Purpose of Weekly Forecast

The weekly forecast was created where on a weekly basis the dealer principles can enter the forecast for the week in conjunction with the departmental managers.

Once the weekly forecast has been entered, they can keep track of the progress of the actual dealings towards the forecasting amounts. The forecast also rolls up into a group view.

The forecast requires a start & end date. The dates that are being entered will then accumulate the actual transactions between these dates and compare to the forecast.

Set Up Weekly Forecast

After login go to the menu under your name and select Weekly Forecast as illustrated with below image.

This will open where the capturing of the data will take place as illustrated in the below image.
